

Friend of Geography Annual Award

On October 26, 2016, Professor Janet Stetson was awarded the “2016 Annual Friend of Geography Award” presented during a luncheon at the Massachusetts Council for the Social Studies Fall Conference in Marlborough, MA. Professor Stetson was joined by family members and faculty from Elms College where she has taught social studies methods courses since 1986. She has been a continuous supporter of geography education making sure pre-teaching students are given methods to use in the classroom. She has been a frequent participant in geography and social studies workshops, attending alongside teachers in the field.